About

This training will teach you how to attract customers in the west (EU and US) and deliver unique value to them.
There's an important change in the software industry: companies have found that the traditional (black box) outsourcing model doesn't work. Companies go through agile transformations and this movement is trickling down from large enterprises to SME's. Relationships move from 'client-supplier' to 'partnerships'. At the same time, the large outsourcers move up the value chain: where they once provided 'hands', they now bring innovation. This trend is known to many people, but the question is 'how to benefit
